Kudos to all our stakeholders who have embraced the new reality of virtual learning with great ease, quick adaptability and professionalism.

All virtual classrooms stay abuzz with e-learning modules, discussions with teachers, well researched videos and fun worksheets, and specially designed experiential learning activities.

The Physical Education, Art, Computer Application, Music and dance teachers too, have made a virtual entry into the homes of students through their online lessons.

Systematically scheduled and professionally executed online classes organized by the school, have received positive and encouraging feedback from the parents and students.

“As Human Beings we do change, grow, adapt, perhaps even learn and become wiser”

Value and life skills imbibed in the life of a school- going child, sets a base for the holistic growth of the child and builds the child's personality. To inculcate a spirit of healthy competition among the students, and to acknowledge their talents, Tagoreans have inter - class competitions, even the COVID-19 lockdown couldn't stop them. At TIS, Both online and offline Intra Class Competitions were organized. The combined efforts of the students and the teachers was evident as these intra-class competition were a huge success. Here are glimpse of a few of them:

TAGOREANS AS CORONA WARRIORS

In the current scenario, where everyone is trying to be with each other, supporting and lending a helping hand, so that the world is free from this epidemic situation as soon as possible, our young Tagoreans are no way behind. They are acting as Young Corona Warriors in their own ways.

Our student, Naman Kar of class V, made us proud when he played for an Online Musical Charity Concert, to raise funds for Delli Seva #Covid19, corona infected families.

Our young Shanaya Shegal, recorded a message on Safety tips from Corona Virus, including the relevance of washing hands, sanitization, masks etc.

The words of Rabindranath Tagore, are well suited for this situation and are well presented by Annisha Mandal of IX B through her sketch titled “Where the Mind is Without Fear”

A self composition thanking all the Corona Warriors, by our senior students in the form of a movie is a motivation that we are going in the right path.

“Baahar Na Jaana, ghar me hi rehna”, a message from our tiny tots, requesting to stay home and spend quality time with their families. This was a short movie featuring our tiny tots from KG class.

The students also clicked amazing pics during this time to send across the message to the society that we are still Positive in the wake of this Pandemic.

Arjun Khajuria of class XII D, penned down his views in the form of his poem “RUST”.

RUST

The boy stood scantily-clad
Dressed in tatters, surrounded by rags,
He stood and stared at the ever expansive blue sky.
Tears danced on his face and crept in his eyes.

Students of class XI created an animation on “How to be a Corona Warrior” and protect yourself and family Social Distancing, washing hands, sanitization, no travelling etc are some of the points emphasized.

A heartfelt gratitude to all the corona warriors, on behalf of all the students, staff and the Management of TIS, in the form of a short video is recorded. We thank each and every person who is standing and fighting against this COVID.
